

Take your game to the next level.

Spend more time winning, less time guessing. Stay ahead with accurate rankings, advanced tools, and data-driven content.

Derrick Ward to start for Bucs

Friday, September 25, 2009 - 4:41pm

pewterreport.com - [Full Article]

Bucs running back Derrick Ward will start in place of RB Cadillac Williams vs. the New York Giants on Sunday. Williams is nursing a knee injury and is listed as questionable for the upcoming game.

There is a good chance Ward will receive a lot of work vs. his former team since Williams and RB Earnest Graham (hamstring) are listed as questionable. Bucs RB/return specialist Clifton Smith (quad) is listed as probable.

Bucs wide receiver Anthonio Bryant (knee) and linebacker Matt McCoy (back) are both listed as questionable. Receiver Maurice Stovall (knee) is listed as doubtful. Should both players not be able to play vs. the Giants, WR Brian Clark would make his first career start Sunday.

Fantasy Impact:

Filed Under: 2010, Preseason

4for4 Fantasy Football. Copyright © Intense Industries, LLC. All rights reserved.